

A YOUNG BRIDE ENDS HER LIFE WITH POISON

The sessions of the conference yesterday were of the greatest interest. The attendance was something remarkable. Throughout the day the church was filled to the utmost and during certain portions of the meeting people were turned away.

REBUKE FOR LADIES.

The features of the day were the rebuke of the ladies and the stirring of others who persisted in taking part in conference and disturbing the sessions, and the reference made by him to the religious system at the University of Virginia. Last night a most remarkable feature of the day was the stirring of a crowd house by the Rev. Dr. C. R. Rogers, superintendent of the Korean Mission. To-day the conference will proceed with its regular business. This afternoon it will be held at the Y. M. C. A. building, and to-night the annual public meeting of the Board of Missions will be held. Dr. Reid will speak this time on China and a collection will be taken

Mr. Lazarus could not be found last night, but it was reliably stated that he was here to confer with local dealers and to organize his forces to resist any changes whatever in the present system. It will be recalled that the announcement was made some time ago that a local member would shortly offer a bill providing for Sunday selling between certain hours; the taking away of screen doors, and providing further that for any violation of these provisions there should be a fine of $100 and imprisonment for a reworking of the license of the offender. While as yet the bill has not been introduced, it will be in a short while, and will precipitate a long and bitter controversy.

Other and similar movements will likely be introduced and the Anti-Saloon League may take a hand in the battle.

Mr. Robert Meade reported for the Grand Division of Virginia; Mrs. S. Sherrill for West Virginia; Mrs. W. C. Marchant for Virginia and Mrs. Connor for South Carolina.

A very cordial greeting was given Miss Mary Dugan, who bore greeting from the chapter in Los Angeles, Cal.

The eventful session of the United Daughters of the Confederacy was opened with prayer by Rev. I. L. Leucht, rabbi of Touro Synagogue, Mrs. Rounsaville, national president, called to order. Dr. George H. Techenor, of the Grand Division of the Cavalry Camp No. 8, made an appeal for the sanction of the U. D. C. for the proposed movement to the women of the South. After a long debate the convention voted to accept the proposal. It was not to open that question until the Jefferson Davis monument had been unveiled.

The Chapter and the ladies, individually, subscribed $50 to help build a monument to the fallen soldiers of the South where the first Southern soldier fell.

It seems to be generally accepted that Messrs. Stuart and Fairfax will be named and the most doubtful question appears to be in relation to the lawyer member. The probability of being boomed at Madison and many believe he will win the prize. He is a retired lawyer of about fifty-five and ranks with his profession as one of the best in the state. For many years he has been a lawyer and practitioner at Louisville but has had offices in this city for a number of years.

He is a brother and law partner of Hon. James Lewis Anderson, formerly of the city of Louisville. His brother has the reputation of being one of the most successful Supreme Court lawyers in the State. Mr. Anderson was for many years the law partner in Henry county of Hon. John C. Whitte, now one of the able Supreme Court judges. He has the same ability and the same legal frugality which has won him the utmost respect for his ability. Messrs. Fairfax and Stuart were members of the same constitutional convention, and are well known throughout the State.

NEW YORK, November 13.—Mayor Seth Low has a new title. It is "Most Worshipful Sir." This is the way in which he was addressed by H. C. Richards, a member of the British Parliament, who, with other foreign representatives who came to attend the dedication of the new Chamber of Commerce, called at the City Hall.

The calamity is the worst that ever occurred in Lebanon. The boiler exploded without warning, and in an instant the entire place was black with death-dealing debris. The wreck and ruin of the nine puddle furnaces was complete. Thousands of persons were attracted to the scene, and weeping women and children crowded about the place, making frantic efforts to obtain tidings of their loved ones.

body of John Marshall, a reservation employee, and he was lowered into the rushing waters. He succeeded in reaching the woman's side and placed a rope about her waist. The two were then slowly hauled to the stone abutment of the bridge. A ladder was lowered and the woman was landed safely.

Mrs. Costello is very weak from exposure, but the hospital physicians say she will recover. Domestic troubles caused the woman to seek death.
